Tobacco Updates

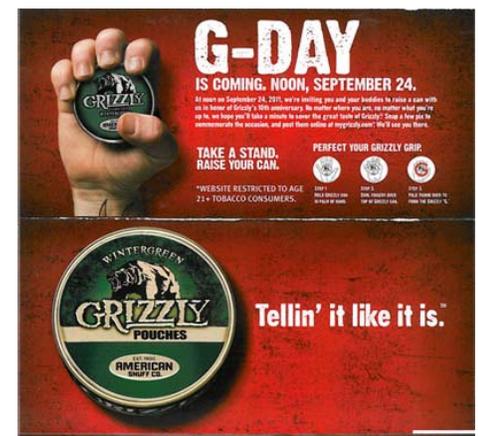

Camel Snus Summer, Dissolvables feedback. Camel Snus launched July with Independence Day themed ads featuring images of pouches arranged in the shapes of stars and making references to freedom (see right). The ad invited smokers to switch to snus and to participate in the Pleasure Switch Challenge, a promotion which asks smokers to switch to Camel Snus for seven days. Like other recent print ads for Camel Snus, these were found in alternative weekly publications rather than in national magazines. In addition, a recent Camel Snus direct mailing featured a “guide to snus’n summer enjoyment” with snus related tips and summer imagery (e.g., a snus shaped pool, grill). Online a new feature was added to Camel Dissolvables’ website asking site visitors to share their opinions on the new product.

Team Marlboro Conservation Promotion. In our March update we described the 2011 Team Marlboro promotion inviting smokers to apply for a week long trip to help “preserve the American West” through various service projects (e.g., rebuilding trails). In July, the Marlboro website was updated with a new section dedicated to the promotion. Smokers can visit the site each of ten weeks to view pictures and learn details about the ten different projects and enter an associated weekly sweepstakes for a chance to win $1000 towards a project of their own. The website also invites smokers to “get involved” by clicking on a link activating Marlboro to donate $5 towards conservation efforts in the country (up to $1 million). Email and print mail advertised the promotion with a free flashlight gift offer.

Other Cigarette News. Newport emailed smokers in July advertising the brand’s menthol cigarettes and a new coupon offer available from the brand’s website. In other menthol news, Natural American Spirit began running new ads in August magazine issues promoting the brand’s menthol styles as being a “natural partnership between tobacco and menthol.” Meanwhile, an American Spirit email encourages smokers to visit the brand’s “Smoking Lounge” at events around the country during the summer.

Grizzly’s G-Day, Copenhagen Pouches . While Grizzly emails continue to remind dippers to enter its “Givin’ It To You Straight” sweepstakes, a new recent print direct mailing also informed receivers about the coming of “G-Day”, that is, Grizzly’s 10 year anniversary, on September 24th (see right). Dippers are asked to raise a can of Grizzly at noon on that day and to “snap a few pix to commemorate the occasion,” pictures they should later share on the brand’s website. In July, Copenhagen’s website announced that new wintergreen flavored pouches are now available while a recent mailing promoted Copenhagen as being a superior brand with the tagline “Some men choose. The rest compromise.”
